QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Art is a revolt against fate." – André Malraux

"What art offers is space - a certain breathing room for the spirit." – John Updike

"Art is a step from what is obvious and well-known toward what is arcane and concealed." – Khalil Gibran

"All a poet can do today is warn. That is why the true Poets must be truthful." – Wilfred Owen

"[M]y favorite way to write is to start that roller coaster without the tracks, just see where it goes. I never, ever outline." – Christina Henry

"A lot of writers write as if the hero sort of popped out of the box at age 22 fully formed. And one thing that raising children does is give you some sense of how human beings really are put together. So when you go to put together a character you can have a more realistic sense of where people really come from, why they really behave the way they do and what a tremendous amount of life and complexity lies behind every human being." – Lois McMaster Bujold

"Those who would make us feel — must feel themselves." – Charles Churchill

"There's no trick to being a humorist when you have the whole government working for you." – Will Rogers
